in NASCAR Nationwide Series

(October 24, 2009) Memphis, Tenn. – CJM Racing continues to be one of the best teams over the past two months in the NASCAR Nationwide Series. Mike Bliss finished fourth in Saturday's Kroger On Track for The Cure 250 at the Memphis Motorsports Park in Memphis, Tenn., and led the most laps in the event. Only a late-race restart kept the team from winning the event.

Once again CJM Racing came to the track and unloaded with a very quick Toyota Camry. Bliss was blistering fast during Friday's practice sessions and put CJM Racing and the RIDEMAKERZ sponsored machine in great position to collect their first pole. The No. 11 Toyota was fastest in the first practice and seventh in the final practice session. The team had high hopes going into Saturday's qualifying and race events.

Qualifying was held Saturday morning and CJM Racing took to the track 30th for qualifying. Bliss continued his fast times around the short, flat Memphis oval and qualified sixth overall. Bliss, however, knew that the race was when the team would show their best efforts.

"Yeah, we were really, really strong on race runs in practice," said Bliss. "We didn't have enough speed to get a pole, but the car is going to be good for the race."

Bliss was interviewed live by ESPN2 after qualifying showcasing the strengths of CJM Racing, especially the past seven weeks where CJM Racing has finished seventh or higher four times including a pair of runner-up finishes. CJM Racing was primed to capture their first win in the NASCAR Nationwide Series.
